

"I am a Bear of Very Little Brain, and long words Bother me."

"Vulcan?" _____ demanded. "I don't even LIKE Star Trek!"

"It was like being in a Jane Austen novel, but one with far less clothing."

"Are you saying that your fat-ass cat has turned me into a vampire?"

"Stay gold, Ponyboy, stay gold."

"Finnick?" I say, "Maybe some pants?"

"Life is pain, Highness. Anyone who says differently is selling something."

"We went to the moon to have fun, but the moon turned out to completely suck."

"This is night, Diddykins. That's what we call it when it goes all dark like this."

"Ford... you're turning into a penguin. Stop it."

"And now, let the wild rumpus start!"

"Where's Papa going with that ax?"

"The first thing you find out when yer dog learns to talk is that dogs don't got nothing much to say. About anything."

"How oft do they rescue or ruin us, through whimsy or design or a combination of both, the adults to whom we entrust our care!"

"Girls under the age of fourteen are the most frightening creatures I have ever come across."

"I've got the key to my castle in the air, but whether I can unlock the door remains to be seen."

"And a special thanks for not burning up the whole ship. Including yourself, you daft bum-rag."

"Sometimes I think high school is one long hazy activity: if you are tough enough to survive this, they'll let you become an adult. I hope it's worth it."

"My dear Frodo! Hobbits really are amazing creatures, as I have said before. You can learn all that there is to know about their ways in a month, and yet after a hundred years they can still surprise you at a pinch."

"I hate horses. I know people who think that they are noble, graceful animals, but regardless of what a horse looks like from a distance, never forget that it's as likely to step on your foot as look at you."

"I hate those endless descriptions of a heroine's physical attributes . . . it really bothers me how in books it seems like the only two choices are perfection or self-hatred. As if readers will only like a character who's ideal— or completely shattered."

"I went to sleep with gum in my mouth and now there's gum in my hair and when I got out of bed this morning I tripped on the skateboard and by mistake I dropped my sweater in the sink while the water was running and I could tell it was going to be a terrible, horrible, no good, very bad day."

"A Kiss," said _____ sleepily. "Actually, just a breath would do. But you have to start kissing someone sometime, I suppose."

"You think the dead we loved ever truly leave us? You think that we don't recall them more clearly than ever in times of great trouble? Your father is alive in you, Harry, and shows himself plainly when you have need of him."

"I am haunted by humans."
